5. Report of President

President Austin welcomed Senators to the beginning of a new academic year and summarized recent developments, primarily focused on developments related to UConn 2000 construction projects:

- a. President Austin stated his intention to keep the campus informed of the issues surrounding building projects. The problems are focused on three student housing projects, which were built quickly to accommodate the rapidly growing student population. Important steps to prevent the recurrence of similar problems include a seven point plan which was developed by Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, Linda Flaherty-Goldsmith. When fully implemented the plan will greatly increase inspections and inspection personnel based on recommendations from a commission appointed by Governor Rell to establish an independent construction committee. In addition, Dr. John Rowe, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has formed a committee to recommend specific steps for implementation of the Governor's plan. Mediation of one of the affected buildings was done by the contractor at no cost for the university; negotiations for the second project are ongoing; and the University is pursuing options for legal recovery for the third project.
- b. In other ways, the University is doing very well. The number of applications for undergraduate admission continues to increase, as does the quality of the student body. Private sector contributions are also on the rise.
- c. President Austin addressed questions from the Senate on how the publicity surrounding the building problems has affected the university image and on how Governor Rell's plan will impact future construction projects.
